

Sharbari Ahmed was born in Dhaka Bangladesh in 1971. She moved to the US when she was three weeks old. She received a MA in creative writing from NYU in 1997 and began (as expected) to start working on a novel entitled A Small War. This year she wrote, produced and starred in her first play, Raisins Not Virgins, which premiered at the Producer's Club in Manhattan. She lives with her husband and son in New York.